March Guest Speaker

OLIVER BERGER
CARIBOO COMPOST

Cariboo Compost is a local business that started just over a year ago offering fee-for-service curbside compost collection. Oliver Berger, the owner and operator of Cariboo Compost, has nearly a decade of experience liaising organics within our community and has a passion for helping our plant.

In addition to offering curbside pick up for people, making it easier for them to compost their food waste, they are also providing composting options at local businesses in town. Oliver is excited about creating solutions for materials that may otherwise be considered waste and creating a valuable food-security resource from them.

Oliver will be joining us on March 25th to share his story about how he is tackling composting and food waste in our small community.
